Title	Judicial Determination of Complexity (amend Cal. Rules of Court, rule 1812)
Summary	The proposed amendment to rule 1812 would clarify that a judicial determination of complexity is required in cases that are provisionally complex case types.
Source	Civil and Small Claims Advisory Committee
Staff	Susan R. Goins, 415-865-7990, susan.goins@jud.ca.gov
Discussion	Rule 1800 of the California Rules of Court defines a complex case, lists certain factors that are present in complex cases, and lists certain types of cases (e.g., construction defect claims, toxic or environmental torts, and mass torts) that are considered provisionally complex. The Civil Case Cover Sheet (form CM-010, attached for reference only at pp. 3 - 4) allows a plaintiff to designate a case as complex and also to indicate if it is one of the provisionally complex case types listed in rule 1800(c). If a plaintiff designates a case as complex, rule 1812(a) requires a court to decide “as soon as reasonably practicable, with or without a hearing, whether the action is a complex case.” In practice, if a case is one of the provisionally complex case types listed in rule 1800(c) but the plaintiff does not designate it as complex, often there is no judicial determination of its complexity or the determination is not made early in the case. Early judicial management of complex cases is likely to promote earlier dispositions, less wasteful activity, reduced litigation costs, shorter trials, and improved decision making. (Deskbook on the Management of Complex Civil Litigation (Matthew Bender 2005) p. 1-1, § 1.01.) Amending rule 1812 to specify that a determination of complexity is required “as soon as practicable” in any case that is a provisionally complex case type would result in earlier judicial management of those cases that are determined to be complex. Courts could continue to adopt and use local practices to facilitate that determination as long as they do not conflict with the rule.

Rule 1812 of the California Rules of Court would be amended, effective January 1, 2007, to read:

Rule 1812. Action by court

- (a) [Decision on complex designation] Except as provided in rule 1811, if a Civil Case Cover Sheet that has been filed and served designates ~~designating~~ an action as a complex case ~~has been filed and served~~, or checks a case type described as provisionally complex civil litigation, the court must decide as soon as reasonably practicable, with or without a hearing, whether the action is a complex case.
- (b) [Court's continuing power] With or without a hearing, the court may decide on its own motion, or on a noticed motion by any party, that a civil action is a complex case or that an action previously declared to be a complex case is not a complex case.

INSTRUCTIONS ON HOW TO COMPLETE THE COVER SHEET

To Plaintiffs and Others Filing First Papers

If you are filing a first paper (for example, a complaint) in a civil case, you must complete and file, along with your first paper, the Civil Case Cover Sheet contained on page 1. This information will be used to compile statistics about the types and numbers of cases filed. You must complete items 1 through 5 on the sheet. In item 1, you must check one box for the case type that best describes the case. If the case fits both a general and a more specific type of case listed in item 1, check the more specific one. If the case has multiple causes of action, check the box that best indicates the primary cause of action. To assist you in completing the sheet, examples of the cases that belong under each case type in item 1 are provided below. A cover sheet must be filed only with your initial paper. You do not need to submit a cover sheet with amended papers. Failure to file a cover sheet with the first paper filed in a civil case may subject a party, its counsel, or both to sanctions under rules 201.8(c) and 227 of the California Rules of Court.

To Parties in Complex Cases

In complex cases only, parties must also use the Civil Case Cover Sheet to designate whether the case is complex. If a plaintiff believes the case is complex under rule 1800 of the California Rules of Court, this must be indicated by completing the appropriate boxes in items 1 and 2. If a plaintiff designates a case as complex, the cover sheet must be served with the complaint on all parties to the action. A defendant may file and serve no later than the time of its first appearance a joinder in the plaintiff's designation, a counter-designation that the case is not complex, or, if the plaintiff has made no designation, a designation that the case is complex.
